It is worth remembering that WhatsApp Plus is a change of the original application, that is, it will not be approved by Facebook, the owner of WhatsApp. This means that the account may be banned and in many cases this will no longer go back. For this reason, we recommend that you use WhatsApp Plus only with secondary numbers so that you don't take any risks. The following article is interesting and we will talk about it. Click here to download WhatsApp Plus for iPhone How to know if someone is using WhatsApp Plus in a conversation? See the tips below. Status: If the person doesn't see your status during the conversation, the suspicion begins. One of the features of WhatsApp Plus is that it allows you to hide this information. If you are talking to someone but it will never appear online, it may be the first symptom of using mods like this. Connection time: Another feature of WhatsApp Plus is that you can hide the last hour of connection. When you review this information, the field appears empty with a second display indicating that you may be using some mod. Double blue no click answer: When you send a WhatsApp message, when the contact reads it, you will see a blue double click. If you notice that the caller is responding when holding a conversation, but the message you sent doesn't appear with a blue double-click, there's already a third clue that you think the person is using the MOD. If this double-click only appears on response, it's a recently added feature on WhatsApp Plus, so there's more reason to doubt it. No emoticons: All mods offer hundreds of extra emojis not available in the official version. If you can't send emoticons and open emojis on your phone screen, but you see a small box with a question mark inside, you may be using WhatsApp Plus or another mod, and you can also view its content. As long as you are aware that you are banned, the conclusion is worth a yes. They say they have a no-ban system, but that's not guaranteed. Therefore, it is recommended to use it on a second phone with a non-primary number. Otherwise, if you only have one phone, we won't advise you because you risk losing your number permanently, as you did last year when 2 million people were banned by Facebook for using WhatsApp Mods.
